

Important notes on my Master in Applied Mathematics studies

The degree I expect to receive in July 2013 is the Applied Mathematics Diploma (Diploma en Matemáticas Aplicadas), which is granted to students who complete the first two semesters of coursework (six courses) of the Master in Applied Mathematics. The complete Master's program includes another semester of coursework (three more courses) and a semester for the thesis.

The following are the courses I have completed (see transcripts)

- Measurement and Integration (March-July 2012)
- Probability and Statistics (March-July 2012)
- Fundamentals of Real Analysis (recognized, Advanced Mathematics, course of the Master in Economics at Universidad del Pacifico)

Courses I will be taking next semester (March-July 2013) to complete the requirements for the Diploma:

- Introduction to Dynamic Systems
- Stochastic Processes
- Concavity and Optimization

It is possible that the courses I need to meet the requirements for the Applied Mathematics Diploma are not offered during the March-July 2013 semester. In that case, I will take other courses in the Master in Applied Mathematics curricula, but I will not receive any degree. I am not currently enrolled in any course due to time and personal constraints.

This certification does not signify the completion of studies or attainment of an academic degree or professional diploma. One semester's credit is equivalent to an hour per week of a theory class or not less than two hours per week of practice. Each academic semester is comprised of seventeen (17) weeks. In the Pontifical Catholic University of Peru, the student's academic performance is marked with grades ranging from ZERO (0) to TWENTY (20), the minimum passing grade being ELEVEN (11). This certificate shows equivalent passing grades according to the European Systems of Transfer and Accumulation of Credits (ECTS) in accordance with the following details:

Alphabetic Grades	Description
A	Top 10% of [Students] who passed
B	Next 25%
C	Next 30%
D	Next 25%
E	Next 10%
FX	Some more work is needed to pass
F	A great deal of work is needed to pass

Any amendment or annotation made at the end of the list of courses invalidates this transcript.

This certificate and the signature recorded on it have been digitally issued, in accordance with that ordered by article 141-A of the Civil Code:

"Article 141-A.- Formality

In cases in which the law establishes that the manifestation of acceptance must be expressed by means of a specific formality or required signature, this can be issued or communicated through electronic, optical or any other analog means.

In case of public instruments, the competent authority should leave record of the means used and keep a complete version for later consultation."
